How to Gather Your Bunch for Cycle Queensland

January 2008

What's a Bunch?

- a Bunch is a group of five or more – it could be a bunch of workmates, a bunch of relatives, a bunch of friends, a bunch of Saturday cyclists ... or any mix you like.
- mixing with the other bunches is a great way to meet people and have more fun on CQ.
- a bunch has a leader (someone to be the contact person/organiser) who is rewarded for their bunch-gathering efforts with a FREE CQ08 polo shirt.
- a bunch has a uniform or costume.

What do Bunches do on CQ?

There are a number of great activities planned for Bunches during CQ07 including:

- the Bunch Muster – come along and meet the other bunches, eye off your competition and here more about some of the tasks you will face during the ride.
- the Bunch Bonanza Challenge Day on day 6. Each bunch will need to perform a song/chant or poem that sums up the Cycle Queensland experience, answer trivia questions and more.

Why form a Bunch?

- A free Cycle Queensland polo shirt for each Bunch Leader
- Official Bunch Photo (available for purchase) – a great way to remember the event
- Fabulous prizes (including Ground Effect Clothing vouchers) to be won by participating in the Bunch Bonanza
- Forming a bunch is a great way to promote your local cycling group, community group, school or workplace.
- It's fun and you'll definitely have a few laughs.

How do I gather my Bunch?

- spread the word about CQ – give brochures to friends, family and colleagues.
- put posters up in the lunch room at work, at your gym or social club or near bike racks/changing rooms (don't forget to write your contact details on the poster).
- get a bunch along to a CQ Info Night - see the News and Info page on the website for times and dates.

How do Bunches win great prizes?

- participate in the Bunch Bonanza Challenge Day activities and exceed your fun limits.
- if you don't win on quality or eccentricity then bribe the judges.
